Waterfront Planning, Development and Culture

MAKING CONNECTIONS

Friday, November 7, 2014

Friday sessions will be held at the American Institute of Architects Headquarters, 1735 New York Avenue, NW, Washington, DC.

7:30 am Registration and Continental Breakfast

8:30 am Welcome, Water Ceremony

The Water Ceremony has become a Center conference tradition. Individuals who are asked to bring a small bottle of water from the rivers, lakes or bays that touch their cities, pour the water into a bowl to symbolize the waterfront community's collective commitment to the health of the world's waters as well as to sound waterfront planning and development practice.

8:45 am PANEL ONE: Resiliency – The New Imperative

Sea level rise, floods, hurricanes, and violent storms have impacted waterfront cities around the world. The panelists, drawing on their varied experiences from the aftermaths of earthquake activity in Christchurch, New Zealand, Katrina's flooding in New Orleans and post-hurricane Sandy in New York and New Jersey, will address how communities, designers and government programs have recovered and planned for the future.

– Moderator: Barry Hersh, New York University, New York, New York

- Brie Hensold, senior associate, Sasaki, Watertown, Massachusetts
- Rod Marler, general manager development, Waterfront Auckland, Auckland, New Zealand
- Cristina Ungureanu, Eskew+ Dumez +Ripple, New Orleans, Louisiana

10:45am Panel 2 – Genius Loci – The Art of Creating Special Places

Every community strives to create distinctive waterfront areas, both large and small, beloved and frequented by the public. Imagination and creativity are involved. - Stuart Niven, consultant, principal, Melbourne, Australia
- David Fierabend, principal, Groundswall Design Group, Hopewell, New Jersey

- Don Brandes, principal, Matrix Design Group, Denver, Colorado
- Mark Hinshaw, principal, LMN Architects, Seattle, Washington

2:45pm Panel 4 – Let's Celebrate ! The Special Role of Festivals and Events

Ray Bradbury once observed: “The peculiar thing about festivals and celebrations of course is that before they begin you often say: Why bother! And when they end you ask what in hell was that about? But once they have started and once they are in full feather-fling and eruption, what a lark!”

Lots of planning and hard work go into creating memorable happenings of all kinds for people to enjoy their waterfront – in an out of the water. Fireworks, films, races, educational events, clean-ups, big bands, silly parades, bagpipes, bugles, bikes, barbeque contests, Octoberfests, dancing, singing – you name it – ALL in the name of ‘public happiness.’ Gain insights into the behind-the-scenes world of organizing, marketing, and managing these events from some of the best in the business.

- Moderator: Jim August, CEO, The Forks North Portage Partnership, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada
- Charlotte DeWitt, president, International Events, Boston, Massachusetts
- Joe Marfuggi, executive director, Riverfront Recapture, Hartford, Connecticut

All-Day Mobile Workshop and Briefings in Baltimore

Back in the '80s Baltimore's Inner Harbor* along with Boston and Toronto's waterfronts, were the "go to" places at least on the East Coast for anyone interested in making things happen.

This workshop will give you a chance to see for yourself what Baltimore's waterfront looks like today and also be briefed on what is in store for the future. The workshop tour will take in the Living Classroom maritime center*, Frederick Douglass* museum, historic Fell's Point and its centerpiece Recreation Pier built in 1917 (familiar to anyone hooked on the TV series "Homicide") poised for new life as a hotel; the new and glitzy Harbor East neighborhood, Locust Point and the beautifully restored Tide Point* offices – once home to Procter and Gamble and now headquarters of Under Armour. You'll also learn about the Floating Wetlands project installed in the Inner Harbor, part of the Healthy Harbor initiative launched in 2011, as well as a recently installed "space age" trash removal device that has been placed in Jones Falls area.

*Excellence on the Waterfront award winner.

9:00am Bus Departs from the Hampton Inn DC/White House. For those not staying at the hotel, meet in the Lobby.

10:00am Arrival in Baltimore for land tour of select sites with time to walk around and have opportunities for taking photos.

12:30pm Lunch

4:00pm Depart for Washington, arrival at hotel approximately 5:00 pm. Amtrak or MARC service available for those needed make an earlier return.

Conference Hotel – Urban Waterfronts 2014

We are delighted to announce that we have selected the Hampton Inn - Washington DC/White House as our conference hotel. We are able to offer a fabulous deal at a perfect, downtown location on H Street between 17th and 18th Street NW a few blocks from where we will meet (AIA Headquarters 1735 New York Avenue) on Friday, November 7. A limited number of sleeping rooms have been blocked for the “Waterfront CenterGroup.” This is not your standard Hampton Inn -- it is an urban, upscale version. The regular room rate is three times what we are able to offer our delegates.

The hotel opened in June of 2013 occupying the former Kiplinger Report offices. It is very close to two Metro stops. For the more adventurous, there is a bike share rack about a block away.

RATES: $149.00 for a King Room and $169 for a Double Queen plus tax.

The cutoff is October 5, 2014 for these rates.

On line registration is available http://hamptoninn.hilton.com/en/hp/groups/personalized/W/WASHSHX-WTR-20141105/index.html?WT.mc\_id=POG or you can call 202 296 1006. You need to indicate you are with the Waterfront Center Group.

We have rooms blocked November 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

There is very limited availability November 5 and 9.

These rates include the following:

- Complimentary High Speed Internet Access
- Complimentary Hot Buffet Breakfast
- On site Business and Fitness Centers; plus a Pool
- 24-Hour Beverage Bar in the lobby offering coffee and teas
- On-site Guest Laundry Facilities
- A Suite Shop has everything that you might need at your home away from home. You can pick up meals to microwave, snacks and beverages or travel items to tidy up.

Valet parking: $30.00 plus tax

The comfortable lobby area is perfect for gathering with friends (beer and wine available to purchase in the Suite Shop) or to plug in your computer. For those who enjoy a cocktail or a bite to eat, there are plenty of establishments nearby including a very spiffy, quiet bar across the street off the lobby of the AKA residential hotel.

We were very excited to make this discovery and we think you will be too!

A Festive Friday Evening in Store

Our Friday social events will occur in two very unique, distinguished Washington properties. Friday's Champagne Reception honoring the 2014 Excellence on the Waterfront Award winners will be held in the Octagon House across the courtyard from the American Institute of Architect headquarters. The reception is included in the conference fee.

THE OCTAGON HOUSE

The Octagon House, also known as the Col. John Tayloe III House, was designed by William Thornton, the first architect of the U.S. Capitol, and built between 1799 and 1801. Colonel John Tayloe III was reputed to be the richest Virginian plantation owner of his time. When British troops were advancing on Washington, D.C., the Tayloes approached the French ambassador and offered use of their home as the French embassy, which he accepted. The Octagon House survived the War of 1812. In 1814, Colonel Tayloe also offered the use of his home to President James Madison and his wife, Dolley, for a temporary "Executive Mansion" after the burning of the White House by the British. It was declared a National Historic Landmark in 1960.

THE DACOR BACON HOUSE

Friday night's Gala Dinner will take place in the DACOR Bacon House, also known as the Ringgold-Carroll House. Now occupied by the Diplomatic and Consular Officers Retired (DACOR), the house is one of Washington's hidden gems.

THE DACOR BACON HOUSE GARDEN

If the weather cooperates, we will be able to have drinks in the spacious brick garden.

THE DACOR BACON HOUSE DINING ROOM

Dinner will be held in elegant second floor rooms. The house was built in 1824-1825 by Tench Ringgold, a close friend of President James Monroe. Mr. Ringgold was U.S. Marshal for the District of Columbia. During the years 1831-33, Chief Justice John Marshall and a number of Associate Justices resided here. Several other members of the Supreme Court boarded at 1801 F Street over the years.

The house is beautifully furnished with many of the Bacon family's art objects, paintings, and portraits. It is listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

The Gala Dinner is an optional event and there is an additional charge for the multi-course dinner with wine included. Seating will be limited. The Gala serves as a fundraising event for the Center's Excellence on the Waterfront Interactive Database Project that will put 370+ award winners on our Web site to be freely available to anyone interested.

The Waterfront Center provides specialized, tailored consulting services designed for the uniqueness of each city and town. We do not believe in a “formula” where one approach fits all.

- Strategic Planning Service, involving a team of four for one week to make a thorough assessment of a community's waterfront potential. Economic development opportunities, civic possibilities, public events, art opportunities — we cover the full range of possibilities. Team members are chosen to fit each community. A narrative report and graphics are the outcome.
- Community Participatory Planning Workshops, where citizens are directly and meaningfully engaged in preparing a concept plan for their waterfront. We bring in a team of experts chosen to fit the community. The team and the city work together over a day-and-a-half. The result combines a summary narrative and graphic depictions of the recommendations.
- Spot Consulting, where the Center's co-directors make an on-the-spot assessment of a community's waterfront potential. Extensive interviews are involved as well as review of pertinent documents. Reports are rendered orally and, if desired, in writing.
- Illustrated presentations draw on the Center's incredible resource of waterfront images dating to 1975. A record of over 200 such presentations available on request.

For the full range of the Center's offerings, including our publications, visit our Web site: www.waterfrontcenter.org/consulting.

MORGAN'S PIER
On the Delaware River in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Morgan's Pier is an open-air bar and restaurant that sits at the southern end of the Northern Liberties Neighborhood just steps from the Ben Franklin Bridge. Its design brings the relaxed congeniality of an "American beer garden" to the riverfront. It seeks to reconnect Philadelphians to the Delaware by inviting them to enjoy food, drinks, and live music amid the sights and sounds of the river. The materials employed in the design recall the industrial history of the Delaware and the neighborhoods adjacent to it.
